A tribute to...an exhibition with art by:

Patricia Steur

Growing up, Patricia aspired to be a painter, but once she held her father's camera in her hands, she was instantly hooked on photography. She started her career at an established Dutch magazine, and in the eighties she traveled the world, proving that; "Photography is my way of communicating", she steadily expanded her increasing body of work. Increasingly more celebrities found their way to her studio or wherever Patricia and her camera traveled . . . amongst them many world luminaries: Dalai Lama, Andy Warhol, Keith Haring with Dennis Hopper, Candy Dulfer, Bono and Anouk. Patricia is especially well known in the rock 'n' roll scene, and world renowned for her stunning photographs. Several books of her work have been published, Dutch Beauty; portraits of 100 influential Dutch women is a good example of her work. With both studio and location photography. Her work has been exhibited in over 30 galleries worldwide.

Erik Hazelhoff Roelfzema (2010 †)

American/Dutch writer, poet, artist, lyricist, and musician Erik Hazelhoff Roelfzema is also known under his pen name E.H. Roelfzema. He used encaustic techniques in his art, as well as polymer resin (glass panels) and monomer resin (embeddings). Between 1970 and 1990 he travelled extensively while leading the life of farmer, fisherman and surfer in Aualoa, Hawaii. He returned to The Netherlands in 1990 where he married photographer Patricia Steur. His musical collaborations include those with Roll and Pizza Delivery Boys. Dutch rock band Golden Earring recorded numerous lyrics by E.H. Roelfzema, among which one of their signature tunes The Naked Truth.
